Virginia Department of Health Provides Update on H1N1 Vaccine

The following instant alert will be sent home to all parents of Orange County Public Schools students on Thursday, October 29, 2009, regarding newly released information from the Virginia Department of Health regarding the H1N1 vaccine. English Version | Spanish Version

A letter from the Virginia Department of Health will be sent home with students today that provides an important update on the State's H1N1 vaccination program. This message does not pertain to Unionville Elementary School since vaccinations have already been administered at that school. A copy of the information has also been posted to the Orange County Public Schools website at www.ocss-va.org.

Even though the information does not apply to Unionville Elementary School students, we wanted to make sure that all parents are apprised of the status of the H1N1 virus.

For more information on the H1N1 virus, please visit the Virginia Department of Health's website at www.vdh.virginia.gov. To view the full text of the Health Department's letter, click here.
